Speaking of Jesus Christ in Public Life

The Church has always tacked the idols of the day - Acts 19

²³ About that time there arose a great disturbance about the Way. ²⁴ A silversmith named Demetrius, who made silver shrines of Artemis, brought in a lot of business for the craftsmen there. ²⁵ He called them together, along with the workers in related trades, and said: "You know, my friends, that we receive a good income from this business. ²⁶ And you see and hear how this fellow Paul has convinced and led astray large numbers of people here in Ephesus and in practically the whole province of Asia. He says that gods made by human hands are no gods at all. ²⁷ There is danger not only that our trade will lose its good name, but also that the temple of the great goddess Artemis will be discredited; and the goddess herself, who is worshiped throughout the province of Asia and the world, will be robbed of her divine majesty."

²⁸ When they heard this, they were furious and began shouting: "Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!" ²⁹ Soon the whole city was in an uproar. The people seized Gaius and Aristarchus, Paul's traveling companions from Macedonia, and all of them rushed into the theater together. ³⁰ Paul wanted to appear before the crowd, but the disciples would not let him. ³¹ Even some of the officials of the province, friends of Paul, sent him a message begging him not to venture into the theater. ³² The assembly was in confusion: Some were shouting one thing, some another. Most of the people did not even know why they were there. ³³ The Jews in the crowd pushed Alexander to the front, and they shouted instructions to him. He motioned for silence in order to make a defense before the people. ³⁴ But when they realized he was a Jew, they all shouted in unison for about two hours: "Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!"

Consequences of challenging the idols

1. The suppliers /drug dealers – will react badly.
2. The drug users – most will not give up – and those that do – there will be a lengthy struggle.
3. When the idol has been deposed or the drug taken away - the void must be filled quickly. Only the Church has the answer.

For many years, the idol of choice was alcohol

Declining alcohol-related violence - an effect of consumption falls? Crime Survey 2017

The latest figures from the Crime Survey for England and Wales \(CSEW\) indicate a fall in the number of violent offences where the victim believed the perpetrator to be under the influence of alcohol. For the year ending March 2017, 40% of victims believed the perpetrator(s) to be under the influence of alcohol versus 53% in 2013/14.

Latest crime figures show 14% increase in sexual offences reported to police

24 Jan 2019

The Office for National Statistics \(ONS\) has released its latest data on crime in England and Wales, which cover the year ending September 2018.

The figures confirm that sexual offences reported to the police are still on the increase, continuing a trend that has lasted over four years.

The statistics reveal reported rapes increased by 16% over the year, and sexual assaults by 13%. This amounts to an overall 14% increase in police-recorded sexual offences.

The ONS suggests this increase is most likely a result of both better recording practices on the part of many police forces, which had previously been found inadequate by Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary and Fire & Rescue Services (HMICFRS), and increased willingness of victims and survivors of these offences to report, rather than a rise in the number of sexual offences being perpetrated. Porn is the new Alcohol

How bad is the problem?

In 2014, the Barna Group conducted a pornography survey that found that

- 79% of 18-30 year-old Christian men view porn monthly
- 37% of Christian men view porn several times a week.
- April 2016 Time magazine reported, "Today more than 100 million people in the U.S. visit adult sites monthly."

Prosecutions for child abuse images has doubled in 10 years

The number of prosecutions over sick images has more than doubled in the last decade.

New Ministry of Justice data shows that 64 Wiltshire Police cases related to the viewing of indecent images of children resulted in prosecutions last year.

It is more than double the 29 cases that made it to court in 2008.

The campaign group Justice says a surge in sexual offence allegations has put increasing pressure on courts, and has called for first-time offenders who look at such material to attend educational programmes instead of being charged.

But the NSPCC warned that prison must remain an option for people who view sick images.

A spokesperson for the charity said

"Viewing such sick images is a crime and prison must remain an option to reflect the severity of it and to protect the public.

"But we know that prison alone cannot solve the situation and we must make prevention and rehabilitation a priority to avoid abuse happening in the first place."

The number of prosecutions in Wiltshire last year reflected a fall from 2017, when 102 were recorded. Across England and Wales, they fell by 28%.

Commenting on the national figures, a spokesperson for the Crown Prosecution Service said:

"Possessing indecent images of children is a serious offence and we will always seek to bring charges where there is enough evidence and it is in the public interest to do so."

A Government spokesperson said offenders who view, but don't create or share, indecent images of children can already be given cautions with tough conditions attached by the police, if prosecutors agree.

Most common matters dealt with -

- Possession of indecent images of children.
- Possession of extreme pornographic images.
- Voyeurism – filming women in private.
- Outraging public decency – usually up skirting and masturbating in public.
- Exposure.
- Meeting a child following sexual grooming.
- Sexual assault – usually of children.

What can the church do?

Present the cross - this is the only solution for man's problem.

The cross made no compromise, modified nothing, spared nothing; it slew all of the man, completely and for good. It did not try to keep on good terms with its victim. It struck cruel and hard, and when it had finished its work, the man was no more. [Gallagher, Steve.]

I learned that we are all in the process of becoming in experience, who we already are in Christ by position. [Solomon, Charles]

3. Address the root causes

Revelation 2 v 6 - Yet I hold this against you: You have forsaken the love you had at first.

Where is our primary identity?

The problem is that most people are living out of the wrong identity—the one shaped by being “conformed to this world” rather than by being “transformed by the renewing of [their] minds” (Rom. 12:2).

....the identity we have been assigned by others or the one that we have built for ourselves, positive or negative, will have a great influence on the decisions we make and the way we relate to others.

....the way of the Cross through death and resurrection with Christ. The reality of this does not have to take years and years after conversion. We may realize at the new birth that not only was he crucified for us but that we were crucified with him.

True Identity in Christ

We may think too much of ourselves or too little. In either case, it is an identity built on people (positive or negative), performance (good or bad), possessions (little or much), power (or lack thereof), and our past (good or bad). Such an identity is based on doing for ourselves, others, and God in our own strength. In other words, we are doing (or not doing) in order to be.

The identity delineated in the Scriptures has nothing to do with the way we see ourselves in relation to others or what our behavior is or has been; it is an identity based on being in Christ and finding our life in him. Any performance involved is his performance at Calvary; on our part, it is being instead of doing. In other words, as we identify ourselves with the Lord Jesus Christ, we begin to live out of our new and true identity in him.

Giving Footholds to the enemy - On D-Day, the Allied forces landed on the beaches of Normandy. Counselors must recognize that too many Christians give up. They want the change too soon. What they really want is change without the daily struggle.

Sometimes they give up when they are on the very threshold of success.

They stop before receiving. It usually takes at least three weeks of proper daily effort for one to feel comfortable in performing a new practice. And it takes about three more weeks to make the practice part of oneself.

Yet, many Christians do not continue even for three days. If they do not receive instant success, they get discouraged. They want what they want now, and if they don't get it now, they quit... We have seen, therefore, that breaking a habit is a two-sided enterprise that requires regular, structured endurance in putting off and putting on.

Dehabituation is more than that; it also involves rehabituation. When a counselee turns his back upon his old ways, at the same time he must turn to face God's new ones.

According to Mrs Partridge, who is undeniably blessed in the looks department, it's a conviction that has been 'weighing heavy' on her heart for months.

She later asked her husband whether it was possible that leggings could cause a man other than him to 'think lustfully' about her body.

Keys to discipleship – how to start Walking in the Spirit

1. Learn about the problem.
2. Speak directly. Ask them:
 - a. How are they getting on with God.
 - b. What are their triggers.
 - c. Have they masturbated since we last spoke?
 - d. Have they looked at porn recently?
 - e. Have they look at things which might led to porn?
 - f. How have they been occupying their free time?
 - g. What's going on generally?
 - h. If dating – what's going on?
 - i. Are there people that you need to forgive?
 - j. Is there someone else that you are blaming?
 - k. What are they watching on TV etc.
 - l. Do they really want to break free?

2. Speak often
3. Call a spade a spade e.g. say that masturbation is wrong.
4. Pray and read the Bible together.
5. Warn of the consequences – this is not just one little problem.
6. The journey is long and painstaking. BUT pray always.
7. Everyday pray, for deliverance and giving thanks in all circumstances.

Growing Up in Pornland: Girls Have Had It with Porn Conditioned Boys

POSTED BY MELINDA LISZEWSKI | 1899.859C | ON MARCH 08, 2014

Melinda Tankard Reist as published on ABC Religion and Ethics

"[I want] better education regarding sex for both boys and girls [and] information about pornography, and the way it influences harmful sexual practices."

These are the words of Lucy, aged 15, one of 600 young Australian women and girls who took part in a just-released survey commissioned by Plan Australia and Our Watch. The survey, conducted by Ipsos, gathered responses from the girls and young women aged 15-19 in all states and territories.

In the survey report, entitled Don't send me that pic, participants reported that online sexual abuse and harassment were endemic. More than 80% said it was unacceptable for boyfriends to request naked images.

Sexual bullying and harassment are part of daily life for many girls. Young people are speaking out more and more about how these practices have links with pornography - and so they should, because they have most to lose.

Pornography is moulding and conditioning the sexual behaviours and attitudes of boys, and girls are being left without the resources to deal with these porn-saturated boys.

My own engagement with young women over the last few years in schools around Australia, confirms that we are conducting a pornographic experiment on young people - an assault on their healthy sexual development.

If there are still any questions about whether porn has an impact on young people's sexual attitudes and behaviours, perhaps it's time to listen to young people themselves. Girls and young women describe boys pressuring them to provide acts inspired by the porn they consume routinely. Girls tell of being expected to put up with things they don't enjoy.

Some see sex only in terms of performance, where what counts most is the boy enjoying it. I asked a 15-year-old about her first sexual experience. She replied: "I think my body looked OK. He seemed to enjoy it". Many girls seem out of touch from their own sense of pleasure or intimacy.
