Britain's crisis is not only economic or political.

It is moral and spiritual.

Lasting change requires strong foundations.

Christianity gave Britain a vision of human dignity, family, freedom, responsibility, justice and hope.

It can do so again.

Here's how.

'Christian Concern' is a trading name of CCFON Ltd.

FOUNDATIONS

Britain cannot be renewed while rejecting the foundations on which she was built.

Our laws and institutions should be shaped by a Christian understanding of humanity, justice, freedom and the common good — not by ideological systems that undermine truth, family and freedom.

A confident Christian nation can be both firm in its convictions and a place where everyone can contribute and thrive.

- Uphold one law for all.
- Reform equality laws that are used to enforce ideological conformity.
- Reject transgender ideology in public institutions.
- Reject definitions of 'anti-Muslim hostility' that are used to restrict legitimate criticism, debate, evangelism or freedom of religion.
- Reaffirm Britain's Christian constitutional and cultural inheritance.

LIFE

Every human life has immeasurable value.

A compassionate society protects the vulnerable. Abortion and assisted suicide undermine the value of human life and weaken our understanding of what it means to care for those who are dependent, suffering or unborn.

Neglecting the value of life leads to a sense of purposelessness and anxiety, contributing substantially to many problems society faces.

- Reject state-sponsored assisted suicide.
- Restore meaningful protections for unborn children.
- Invest in excellent palliative care and support for those facing unexpected pregnancies.
- Rebuild a culture that values human life from conception to natural death.

FAMILY

Strong families build strong nations.

Marriage between one man and one woman provides the best foundation for family life and for raising the next generation.

Children deserve protection from ideologies and medical interventions that deny the reality of biological sex.

- Support marriage between one man and one woman.
- Ensure marriages are properly registered in law, protecting women from exploitation through unregistered or polygamous arrangements.
- Protect children from puberty blockers and gender ideology.
- Defend parents' freedom to raise and educate their children.
- Remove VAT from independent-school fees.

FREEDOM

Freedom depends on truth, responsibility and moral courage.

Britain's historic freedoms grew out of Christian convictions about the dignity of the individual, the importance of conscience and the limits of state power.

- Strengthen protection for freedom of speech.
- Protect the freedom to express Christian beliefs without fear of punishment.
- Champion enterprise and free markets.
- Encourage philanthropy, generosity and personal responsibility rather than ever-growing dependence on the state.
